

Experience the Difference of INEDA Direct Primary Care

At INEDA Healthcare, we believe that one of the most important aspects of a person's healthcare experience is a personalized approach to primary care. Today's healthcare system doesn't value primary care, and because of this, most people's experience with doctors consists of 5-7 minute appointments that feel rushed and disconnected. We think that in order for our healthcare system to function at its best, people need a higher-level of primary care. Care that is focused on prevention and centered around the doctor-patient relationship: INEDA Direct Primary Care.

Direct Primary Care is the future of healthcare – a model that puts doctors and patients together to improve health outcomes and lower costs. Practitioners inside direct primary care practices are not associated with major health systems. Because of this, they do not have to meet certain referral requirements and can spend more time with their patients. With INEDA Direct Primary Care, patients can better access their direct primary care providers as well as labs, imaging, pharmaceuticals and behavioral health. This increased access translates to better outcomes, happier patients and decreased costs. With no copays or barriers to care, employees are encouraged to contact their providers for any acute needs or questions. This untethered access not only eliminates expensive ER or urgent care visits, but it also creates a culture of employees who are proactively engaged in their health.

Our healthcare partner, Strada Healthcare, has negotiated deep discounts on many procedures and services in the communities we serve. We do this because most procedures – when paid for in cash – can be done at more than a 50% discount when compared to insurance rates. The INEDA Direct Primary Care program offers discounted rates on imaging, labs, pharmaceuticals, physical therapy, chiropractic care, dental and more!
